I am an enthusiastic and creative designer with a bachelor's degree in Creative Product Design from Asia University, Taiwan, and a Master's degree in Design Innovation from De Montfort University, UK.

By participating in exhibitions in various locations across Taiwan and with a background of working as a Graphic Designer Assistant, I have developed strong collaboration skills, alongside effective and efficient communication skills with team members and co-workers alike.

With the experience of working in a diverse environment, passion for innovation through product and industrial design, and the capability to rapidly pick up new skills, I firmly believe I can contribute a unique and creative viewpoint.
